Republic Plans Big Expansion

Cleveland Project To Cost $75,000,000

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17—(AP)—Republic Steel Corp. speeded plans today on the biggest plant expansion project in Cleveland's history. The firm figures the $75,000,000 enlargement will increase its steel ingot output 34.6 per cent.

Work already has started on the plant, and Republic—third largest steel producer—estimates that the first steel will be poured from the new facilities early in 1952.

The major additions include: A 126-oven by-product coke plant; a 1,400 ton blast furnace; four 275-ton open hearth furnaces; a 72-inch tandem cold reducing mill to produce cold rolled sheets for autos, refrigerators, etc.; improvement to the present 32-inch blooming mill; new soaking pits (which reheat steel ingots).

In addition, other heating, annealing, pickling and other processing will be improved, and at one point the Cuyahoga river which runs near Republic's sprawling mills, will have to be shifted.

All this, the company said, will mean employment for 800 more men and an addition to the yearly payroll of about $3,300,000.

Court Decrees Two To Share $17,000,000

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17—(AP)—A recommended settlement of the long contested $17,000,000 Garrett estate would give the inheritance to a Greenville, Mass., banker and an elderly Chicago recluse.

A board appointed by orphans court to sift the 26,000 claimants from all over the world, yesterday recommended the estate, after taxes, be awarded to three cousins, all of them dead. It is the survivors of the cousins who may end up with the estate.

The recommendation of the group headed by Clinton A. Sowers was made exactly 20 years to the day after the death of Mrs. Henrietta Garrett.

Sowers said his group, in its report to orphans court master Robert Brigham, recommended awarding the estate to Wilson Primm Kretschmar, 71, Greenville banker and a nephew and heir of Herman A. Kretschmar of St. Louis, who died in 1941, and Mrs. Constance Kretschmar Mock of Chicago, daughter and heir of Howard Sigismund Kretschmar, Chicagoan, who died in 1933.

Each of the heirs would get an estimated $2,000,000. The U. S. government and the state of Pennsylvania would split up the remaining $13,000,000, most of it as taxes.

Mrs. Ecker's Body Found On Beach

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 17—(AP)—Search planes today found the body of Mrs. Frederick H. Ecker partly embedded in beach sands on Edisto island 40 miles south of here.

The 48-year-old wife of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's board chairman was pitched into the Atlantic Wednesday when a small fishing boat capsized. James Merrill Herd, Jr., 39, handsome New York theatrical producer and fishing companion of Mrs. Ecker, was still missing. Searchers believed he also had drowned.

Mrs. Ecker's body had drifted about 15 miles southwest of the fishing area off Seabrook island where the accident happened.

Lieut. Jack Southworth, a civil air patrol pilot, sighted the body at 7:20 a. m. on a low sweep along the beach. He landed his plane and examined the body. He estimated Mrs. Ecker, a cousin of former President Raymond Poincaré of France, had been dead 24 hours.

Her 83-year-old husband, who flew from the west coast yesterday, received the news calmly at his Charleston hotel room. Mrs. Ecker and Herd had been objects of a wide sea and air hunt for the last two days.

Coast guardsmen yesterday found the small rowboat from which they and two friends were fishing when the craft was swamped by heavy seas and overturned Wednesday.

The four had put out from the Seabrook island home of Mrs. Victor Morawetz, whose late husband was a wealthy New York railroad lawyer and protégé of steel tycoon Andrew Carnegie.

J. B. Rogers, a New York real estate broker, and Peter C. Morris, a caretaker on Seabrook island 25 miles south of here, were rescued by a passing shrimp trawler. They had become separated from the missing couple by a southward ocean current.

Herd had been a house guest at the Morawetz estate since May. Mrs. Ecker had arrived last Friday. Both were last seen grasping a boat oar as it floated near a sandbar about a mile from the island.

Mrs. Ecker's husband, notified Wednesday in San Francisco of the accident, flew to New York, and arrived here by air yesterday. He secluded himself in a hotel.

13 Airmen Die As Ships Explode

Tragedy Occurs In Refueling Operation

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 17—(AP)—A collision in flight of two giant planes engaged in the U. S. Air Forces newest refueling operation ended in flaming death for 13 airmen.

Ten others parachuted to safety after the four motor craft smashed together yesterday afternoon 50 miles west of Tucson over the southern Arizona desert. The planes, engaged in a routine refueling operation, were seen to erupt in flames and plunge to the ground five miles north of the Papago Indian village of Silnakya on the Sells reservation. The tanker is believed to have exploded.

Some of the crew members jumped and may have reached the ground safely, but were apparently caught in a deluge of flaming gasoline that sprayed over the area.

Another airman, caught flat on the ground after making a successful jump, was crushed to death by a piece of falling wreckage.

Robert Moore, a reporter for the Tucson Arizona Daily Star who flew to the scene, reported there were indications all of the airmen attempted to get out of the flaming craft.

Their blackened and smashed bodies, most of them wearing portions of parachutes, were scattered over an area a half mile around the crash scene. Bits of flaming debris were found as far away as a mile.

An air rescue team rushed to the scene found some of the dazed survivors standing in two groups. Five of them were in short distance west of the fallen planes. Two others east. The remainder were scattered.

All were rushed to the base hospital at Davis-Monthan field. Eight suffered only minor scratches and could walk. Two had broken ankles but were otherwise reported alright.

Four Hunters Die In Ohio Fields

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17—(AP)—Ohio's fall hunting season entered its third day today with four hunters already dead. Two died of gunshot wounds and the others of heart attacks while tramping through fields.

The fourth victim was Dwight Stemen, 47, of Sunbury (Delaware County). He died in Marion City Hospital last night. His shotgun accidentally discharged into his face as he passed through a field of corn on a farm near Richmond with his brother, James.

Earlier yesterday, Floyd Cunningham, 58, of Tipp City (Miami County) was found dead of a heart ailment in a field near Troy. He had been hunting alone. The other hunters died Wednesday—opening day of the season.

Tanks Sweep Through Red Trap In Korea

Three-Hour Battle Fails To Halt U. S. Drive To Border

SEOUL, Nov. 17—(AP)—An American tank column blasted its way through a Red trap in a far North Korean mountain ravine today. Then it rolled northward in a blazing bid to reach the Manchurian border in four days. Communists opened up on the 17th Infantry regiment from the hillsides as the tanks rumbled along a narrow road in northeast Korea. A three-hour battle ended with 125 Communists dead on the hills and Marine planes rocketing the fleeing remnants.

This was about 23 miles south of the Manchurian frontier.

The commander of the column said his force would reach the border early next week and if fired on from Manchuria—

"We will shoot hell out of them."

Elsewhere on the front: The South Korean Capital division clawed 3,000 to 4,000 yards forward on the extreme north-east sector.

U. S. Marines probed mountains around Changjin reservoir in the center of the peninsula; Patrols of the U. S. 24th division roamed unopposed more than six miles north of Pakchon in the northwest.

American troops hunting down guerrillas far behind the lines reported inflicting the biggest death toll of any battle action this week. More than 500 Reds were killed. Red raiders retaliated by setting an entire town, Kapyong, ablaze. More than 8,000 villagers fled.

Along most of the front Communists avoided any major engagement. But they were building up forces in the mountains. A spokesman estimated 100,000 Reds are available in the north-west—armies equipped with American artillery captured by Chinese Communists from Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists and now supplied by American-type shells manufactured in Red Manchuria.

War planes, striking out in front of the spearheading advance of the 17th Infantry regiment's tank column in the northeast, set ablaze the Red stronghold of Kapsan, the Tenth Corps announced. Kapsan is the U. S. Seventh division's immediate objective.

The tankers' skirmish took its toll in American wounded.

Col. Harbert B. Powell, 17th regiment commander, narrowly escaped death. Later he said his men would reach the Manchurian border "within three or four days."

A Tenth Corps spokesman said they were 20 miles from the border, but Associated Press Correspondent Tom Stone, with the regiment, reported they were 23 miles away.

"We plan to go to the Yalu then pull back and trench," Powell told Stone. "My orders are indefinite."

Youth, 18, Faces Death In Chair For Slaying Wooster Mayor Suicide Victim

MEDINA, Nov. 17—(AP)—Gerald Killinger sat out his 18th birthday today in a jail cell. Facing him is a sentence of death in the electric chair.

The sentence—to be pronounced next week by Judge Windsor Kellogg—was made mandatory by a jury of six men and six women which failed to recommend mercy when it found the baby-faced youth guilty of murdering Harold E. Mast, 23, on Oct. 5.

The high school youth told jurymen he ambushed and shot the tenant farmer because he was a "fall guy" for Max Amerman, 27, who wanted to continue a love affair with Mast's wife.

Mrs. Randi Mast, 24, admitted from the witness stand she had been intimate once with Amerman, who owned the land her husband leased and farmed. She is a Norwegian who was married to Mast while he was serving with the army of occupation in Germany.

The youngster clinched his hands when he heard it and became so limp that he had to be assisted from the room by sheriff's deputies. George Killinger, his father, sat on a spectator's bench. His mother, sobbing, had left the room earlier.

Trial of Amerman, also on a first degree murder indictment, is to follow.

Two Highway Mishaps Occur In District

No one was injured in two area accidents investigated Thursday by state patrolmen. Both mishaps occurred at intersections.

The truck driven by Eugene R. Morelli, 36, of East Palestine attempted to pass the car driven by Lewis Roberts, 39, of Middletown at 11:25 a. m. on Route 517, five mile south of Columbiana. Roberts was making a left turn and the vehicles collided.

At 12:05 p. m. on Route 34, the Calla-State Line road, the car driven by William O. Crum, 24, of R. D. 1, Beloit, failed to stop at an intersection and ran into the car operated by Alfred J. Atkinson, 30, of Washingtonville, patrolmen said.

Charged With Using City Polio Funds

WOOSTER, Nov. 17—(AP)—The mayor of Wooster shot and killed himself in his office last night a few hours after the county prosecutor accused him of misusing polio and hospital funds in his custody.

Mayor Francis H. Hillen, 46, fired one bullet through his temple shortly after 10 p. m. but his death was not disclosed to the public until today.

Coroner Lyman A. Adair ruled the death was suicide.

Hillen, a Republican who had been mayor of this Wayne county seat of 14,000 since 1947, died almost immediately after the shooting. He killed himself with a revolver he took from Police Chief Walter Yost's office next to his in city hall. Policemen in an adjacent room heard the shot and investigated at once.

Prosecutor Jack Critchfield said he filed charges yesterday that Hillen had misused the city funds. Critchfield estimated the shortage at about $3,600, but said no audit had yet been made. The prosecutor said Mayor Hillen was to have been asked today to resign.

Critchfield said he presented the mayor last night with a bill of information charging two counts of forgery and four counts of embezzlement.

The mayor's post here pays $3,000 a year and is a full time job. Hillen supplemented the income with part-time work as an embalmer in a local funeral home. He came to Wooster in 1936 from Lakewood to work as an embalmer.

In addition to his widow, Martha, he leaves two small children—Marcia 6, and Jon 8.

His funeral will be at 2 p. m. Saturday with burial in Lakewood.

Extended Forecast

Temperatures will average about 2 degrees below normal. Normal high 42-46; normal low 29-32. Colder Sunday, warmer Saturday and Monday turning colder Tuesday or Wednesday. Precipitation averaging 1/10 inch occurring as snow flurries Sunday and showers or snow flurries Tuesday.

Tells Editors Nation Must Earn Privilege

Calls For 3-Point Program To Build A Pivotal U. S.

ATLANTA, Nov. 17—(AP)—America's top military man offered today to trade the atom bomb for "a genuine course of righteousness in the world," and "all military power for a century of peace."

"But no easy trades are on in the open market," Gen. Omar Bradley said in a speech prepared for 500 members of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association meeting here. "We must earn the world rightness we seek, and the peace we so earnestly desire."

Urges German Arms

Bradley called anew for German rearmament and suggested a system by which U. S. reserve military manpower would be maintained at a greater degree of combat readiness than in the past. He said that would help provide the military strength which will be necessary "for many years to come."

To reach the goal of enduring peace, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff called for:

1. Building "a strong and wholesome nation, to act as a pivotal center for freedom."

2. Maintaining and enlarging industry and productivity, and "wherever it serves freedom's interest," sharing the resulting benefits.

3. Exercising "all the means of diplomacy, all the skills of negotiation, to enlarge the opportunities for freedom throughout the world."

Backs Reserve System

"In short," Bradley said, "we can and must win the cold wars, as well as the hot ones. So long as we can create the political, economic, religious and moral strength with which to face the threats of international communism, we are on the road to success."

"At the same time," he added, "we must build the enduring military strength which can reserve and protect the United States, and freedom, so that we can insure the security of this pivotal nation."

This, he said, calls for a rapid build-up of the fighting forces of the U. S. and friendly nations. To meet such a demand, he proposed a new U. S. system of ever-ready reserves and national guardsmen, and a speedy solution of the deadlock between this country and France over plans for rearming western Germany.

The U. S. favors use of German divisions in setting up a Western European defense force. France wants to restrict the Germans to smaller units within a European army responsible to a European assembly.

Declaring that it is within America's power to create and maintain the strength necessary to protect itself and help protect other nations which help themselves, Bradley added: "There is urgency in our desire to get on with the establishment of an integrated force for the defense of Europe. The Secretary of Defense and the joint chiefs of staff are convinced that a resurgent Western Europe is one of the great hopes for the defense of freedom, and the improvement of our chances for peace. As soon as the problem of German participation is solved, then we can proceed with our plan."

General Bradley is scheduled to go to London around Dec. 1 to meet with representatives of the other North Atlantic Pact nations in a new effort to reach agreement on a German rearmament plan.

Ohio Village League Elects First President

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17—(AP)—The League of Ohio Villages, Inc., elected David Goldthorpe of Amherst (Lorain county) its first president yesterday.

Goldthorpe, city solicitor of Amherst, was among those who helped organize the league here earlier in the week. The group represents Ohio's 750 or so villages but, in Goldthorpe's words, "is not a pressure group."

"There are many things," he said, "that the villages in Ohio can do to help each other." One of the first things on the league program was the drafting of a legislative program. It includes a request to the legislature that villages be allowed to set their own liquor closing hours; that terms of village councilmen be staggered, and that villages with more than one policeman contribute three-tenths of a mill from each dollar to start a police pension fund.

Brethren Church Hits Social Dancing

DAYTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—Social dancing today bore the official stamp of disapproval of the Evangelical United Brethren church.

Delegates to the 800,000-member church's general conference discussed the question of men and women dancing together for more than an hour yesterday. Then, by a wide margin, the delegates adopted a resolution blasting the social dance and urging the conference's schools and churches to support in full "this attitude of the church."

Dr. Raymond Veh, conference press representative, said later the resolution "is not a mandate" to church colleges.

"The suggestion is that the college administrations adapt their social programs to this view of the conference," he said.

Dr. C. F. Gates of Portland, Ore., superintendent of the Oregon-Washington conference, raised the issue on the conference floor.

Torrey Kaatz, of Toledo, a lay delegate and president of the EUB's general brotherhood, was among those speaking against the resolution.

"If the parents of children in our church," he said, "would strengthen the Christian conviction of our young people this would not be a matter for our concern."

Lancaster Residents To Fete Foreign Students On Holiday

LANCASTER, O., Nov. 17.—(AP)—The folks here will play Thanksgiving Day hosts to 21 Ohio University students from foreign lands. It's the result of an idea by Richard Brandon, son of the mayor and an Ohio U. student.

Young Brandon wondered what classmates from overseas did while the American students went home over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Why not, he asked, invite them to typical American homes for a uniquely-American holiday — complete, of course, with a turkey dinner and all the trimmings? He put the question to his father, Mayor Harold W. Brandon.

The mayor thought it was a dandy idea. So did a lot of the townfolks. It was decided to invite the foreign students as guests of the city.

The 21 students—two of them women—come from Germany, Japan, Curacao, Austria, Colombia, France, Iran, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Poland, Lebanon, Holland, Greece, India and South West Africa.

They'll leave the campus at Athens—some 48 miles from Lancaster—in a university bus next Wednesday afternoon. At Lancaster's city hall, they'll be greeted by Mayor Brandon and 11 Lancaster families who will serve as official hosts. The group of hosts, incidentally, include a bank president, a chemist, a coal dealer, a hotel manager, two ministers and an attorney.

The students will spend all day Thanksgiving in the homes of their hosts. On Friday, there will be a tour of the city. That night they'll return to the campus.

Wainwright Fears War, Sees Invasion Of U. S.

CLEVELAND, Tenn., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Gen. Jonathan Wainwright says he fears that if a major war comes with Russia, she would invade this country through Alaska and along the west coast of America.

Gen. Wainwright spoke here last night at a banquet given in his honor by the Disabled American Veterans.

The famous Bataan commander, referring to the present conflict in Korea, added, "I am worried about the possible outcome of this—I call it—a little two-bit war with Russia."

HEAVY, HEAVY HANGS OVER THE BRIDGE — Perched 200 feet above the Cuyahoga River Valley flats in Cleveland, O., the truck cab shown above was a precarious seat for driver Jacob Bohland, 25, who scrambled to safety after his truck went out of control and slid through the Lorain-Carnegie bridge's guard rail. The rig went out of control when Bohland, who was a victim of shock, turned to avoid hitting another driver. At right, the cab is dramatically pictured from below hanging in space.

Better Health for Better Living

THE LAST THREE DECADES have brought many changes in matters pertaining to health. The normal span of life has been increased materially. Consider diabetes, for example. Diabetes was first recognized about the time of Moses, or 200 years before the birth of King Tut. It was not until 1921, however, that a specific remedy was discovered. Today, through the use of Insulin and a balanced diet, the diabetic can reasonably expect to live about as long as anybody. Your physician will promptly recognize the symptoms of diabetes. He knows all about the treatment. And remember this, all advertised cures for diabetes are questionable. Don't be victimized.

The Right Idea

THE general manager of the Textile Workers Union (C.I.O.) now speaks up in favor of Senator Taft's amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act.

"We support the Taft amendments as far as they go," says Isadore Katz. "We are satisfied from Senator Taft's statements that he is willing to amend the law. The Taft amendments would be helpful."

Union labor's right to equitable treatment under labor-management legislation has been hampered by a fantastic political scheme. The scheme began with President Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley Act which went into effect in 1947. The law was the result of intolerable abuses. It reflected public opinion. Mr. Truman disregarded the opinion. He began a campaign to discredit the new law. He played politics.

His campaign was backed by labor politicians, who pounded on the slogan that the Taft-Hartley Act was a slave-law law. This was good for votes in the 1948 presidential campaign. It was so good the Truman administration resolved to keep the issue alive at least through the congressional campaign of 1950. It refused to let the law be amended. That would have been good government but bad politics.

No one ever claimed the Taft-Hartley Act as originally passed was perfect. The idea was to adopt it to changing circumstances, profiting by experience in its administration. For that purpose the law set up a commission to study its operation continuously and to keep Congress informed. But this did not fit in with the scheme of the politicians who aimed to exploit the labor vote for everything that was in it. They resisted all efforts to adopt the law.

They came to the end of the rail last Nov. 7. The Taft-Hartley issue backfired. There were no votes in it in 1950. At long last it may be possible to get somewhere with the real problem of labor-management relations.

The problem is stated in the preamble of the Taft-Hartley Act—"to recognize . . . that neither party has any right in its relations with any other to engage in acts or practices which jeopardize the public health, safety or interest."

Income Or Revenge?

FIRST STEP of government intentions toward free enterprise in the 82nd Congress will be the kind of corporation taxes enacted to pay for mobilization.

Since the beginning of the New Deal, congressional tax-thinking has been colored by reformers itching to take a poke at free enterprise. They were less interested in the amount of revenue produced by corporation taxes than in the weight of the handicap they could pile on the capitalistic system.

The reformers are still on hand. Against the better judgment of level heads in Congress and the executive department, they still are trying to use taxing power to assert their authority over all kinds of business. They are only interested incidentally in producing revenue.

The worst news the Communist conspiracy could hear would be that the United States, accepting full responsibility for free enterprise, finally had decided to abandon business-crippling tax devices. That news may come out of the 82nd Congress. It may be hastened by the realization that businessmen who pay corporate taxes should have more to say on the subject than side-door Socialists who have been using corporate taxes to get in dirty digs at capitalism.

The way to save freedom is to make all its foundations strong.

Approximate Only

THE vote-counting fiascos in Michigan and Connecticut, where election of a governor and U.S. Senator, respectively, are hanging in a balance of error, create substantial doubts.

As always comes to light in close counts, the evidence of sloppy handling of ballots in these states is an affront to confidence in election returns. The Connecticut foul-up may affect the party control of the Senate for the next two years.

While it is no secret to election officials that the official count shows a multitude of errors, voters are rightly disturbed by these occasional glimpses of what goes on in the polling places.

The remedy would seem to lie in more efficient workers in polling places. But that only suggests the difficulty of finding a practical remedy, because more efficient workers would need more training. And that would require vastly more money than is available now to cover the expenses of this basic function of popular government.

Voting machines are becoming more attractive with each new disclosure that majority rule in the United States may be nullified by sloppy ballot counting.

Managing A Home

By PETER EDSON

Some Housewives To Be Bookkeepers

UNCLE SAM now wants the names and addresses of a million housewives who regularly employ maids, cooks, cleaning women, butlers, gardeners, chauffeurs and the like. The government also wants the names of these employees.

Purpose of this woman and man hunt is not to draft them, but to register them for collecting their new social security taxes and ultimately paying old age and survivors' insurance, when they get too old to work or when they die.

Not all employing housewives and not all domestic servants have to register. If this help doesn't work two days a week or more, every week in any three-month period, both employer and employee can forget about it. Also, if the help is paid less than $50 wages for 24 days work in this three-month period ($2.08 a day) they can forget it.

But any housewife who employs one or more servants for more than 24 days in any quarter-year should write to the Collector of Internal Revenue where she or her husband (if any) send their income taxes. A request should be made for more information on how to go about reporting on wages paid and deductions made for social security.

The method for making these reports has now been worked out by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which will collect the taxes, and the Social Security Administration, which will pay the benefits due at 65.

BIR and SSA now believe they have this thing worked down to as simple a procedure as possible. When the government learns the names and addresses of the million housewives who employ help, it will send each of them a report form No. 942 every three months.

THE FIRST FORM 942 will be mailed out early in 1951. It will cover the first three months of that year. It will have to be filled out and returned to the Collector of Internal Revenue sometime during the month of April. Nothing has to be done about help employed in 1950, as this section of the law does not become effective till Jan. 1, 1951.

Form 942 will be a single sheet of paper. On this form the housewife will have to put her own name and address, the name of her maid, hired man or other employees, their social security card numbers, and the amount of wages paid them in the previous three-month period. If the employees don't have social security cards and numbers, they will have to be registered and get them.

Then the housewife will have to compute the amount of social security taxes due. The law says this will be 3 per cent of the wages paid, up to $3,000 a year. Half of this 3 per cent tax is supposed to be paid by the employer, half by the employee. That is, the housewife is supposed to deduct the employee's 1½ per cent each pay day.

For instance, if the domestic worker is paid the minimum of $50 wages in the three-month period, the deduction of 1½ per cent would be 75 cents. The housewife is supposed to pay another 75 cents. If housewife wants to, she can pay the whole thing, without making any deduction from wages paid. Anyway, the housewife's check for $1.50 (or more) should be mailed to the Collector of Internal Revenue, along with Form 942, every three months. That's all there is to it.

IF THE HOUSEWIFE runs a small business of her own, or if she is married to a professional man like a doctor or lawyer who hires a secretary and a couple of other employees on a personal basis, the housewife may be added to this list of employees and reported to the government on Form 941. This offers the housewife probably the simplest solution to the whole business—turn it over to her husband and let him worry about it.

One thing the housewife can't do—she can't be listed as an employee of her husband and so become eligible for social security benefits in her own right. Nor can a member of the family—a son or daughter, for example—be listed as a household employee.

Only cash wages count. Room and board can't be counted as wages, either. But carfare can be counted, if paid in cash. People who do household work on farms don't come under these provisions of the law. They are considered farm workers and must be reported as such.

If a maid or gardener works for more than one employer, each employer must report his or her earnings separately.

If some one like a registered nurse works for a number of families and has total earnings of more than $400 a year, she may consider herself as "self-employed" and so come under the law to get social security protection. But domestic servants who work for a number of families may not consider themselves as self-employed.

Spring Is Almost Here

By TRUMAN TWILL

WITH an apology to those who have had long acquaintance with such matters and no longer discuss them, today's discussion starts with a newcomer to the Twillery named Waldo.

That is his formal name. Informally, he is Sam the Ram—125 pounds of solid mutton with a destiny in the affairs of the animal kingdom. In the lingo of humans, who brashly pretend to know more than they are capable of knowing, Waldo might be described as a character with a zest for life.

But in the more dependable silence of his own kind, Waldo is an animal guided faultlessly by the instinct which is his legacy from the past. Which makes him smarter than men, who are too dumb to learn from the past and therefore are everlastingly stumbling into trouble.

To get down to earth and the grass which grows thereon, Waldo's present importance is that of a prime factor in the sheep-grass equation which a weekend farmer is depending on to keep the grass mowed by hungry sheep which will convert it into wool and lamb chops.

Nature's marvelous plan for sheep calls for adding to their numbers when the grass turns green in the springtime so they will be sure of getting a head start on survival before the grass turns brown in winter. Thus, the role of the Waldo in the sheep kingdom is played when the temperature begins to drop. Hence, spring lambs.

That is the way it always has been. And thanks to the reliability of instinct as against the unreliability of men's attempts to improve on instinct in their own disarranged affairs, that

Speaking of Chinese Puzzles

More Drastic Controls Expected

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON
THE MOOD of Washington often shifts with the winds of international affairs. Just now there is apprehension and genuine fear that the Chinese Communists, with Soviet connivance, may be trying to start a large-scale war in the Far East.

A short time ago, when it looked as if the North Korean opposition was being mopped up by the U.N. military forces, there was some concern here lest the armament program become bogged down through complacency.

The government as yet has not succeeded in impressing upon the country that a long-range rearmament program is in process which must necessarily cut back goods for civilian use and take more and more raw materials for military purposes.

The political campaign which ended last week caused the postponement of many decisions that are involved in the conversion of the peacetime economy to a new pattern.

There is one difference, however, between 1940 and the present period. In this instance, more time is being given for adjustment—more time for individual producers to arrange for the allocation of their supplies.

BUT THIS very effort to do the job in a more orderly way than before is bringing its complications. It is obvious that the idea of letting each seller of a product in short supply determine how much he will give to particular customers will inevitably raise a howl from those who are not getting the amounts they want. Those businesses which are engaging in war work for the first time will be complaining if they find themselves up against a discriminatory situation because they happen not to have established relations with suppliers.

Predictions are being made that the wartime method of allocation, such as the "controlled materials plan," will have to be applied by the middle of next year, if not sooner.

What is happening, of course, is that the basis for a peacetime system of control has not been laid by the international situation. The fluctuations in the headlines make the problem more and more difficult daily. Plainly the President will have to call in the Republican and Democratic leaders of Congress soon and, after an agreement is reached as to the size of the military program, the essential facts will have to be given to the country.

Already there are industrial layoffs due to shortages of materials. While the statisticians and economists can explain all this away by the statement that defense orders will be coming soon to take up the slack, the interim period will not be made any less painful.

THE TRUTH is the United States doesn't have an economy that can be managed either by the government or by private industry in such a way as to avoid these gaps. Some deflationary influences will set in even as more inflationary influences are at work.

It is significant that the cost-of-living index is receding slightly and this may apply a restraint on the demands for wage increases which in themselves have been adding to the inflationary spiral.

But it is growing more and more apparent every day that the shortages of materials and the tightening of credit are directly and indirectly affecting the employment picture. While much of the idle manpower will be absorbed, there is always the geographical factor—new businesses with defense orders do not arise in the very localities where the layoffs occur. Home-owners do not move to other areas instantaneously.

Unquestionably in a few weeks the members of Congress will be hearing from their constituents about the manner in which controls are applied, and the problem will then be to find some more equitable system of allocation than the method now being used, where the producers make the decisions. So long as the complaints are few in number, the present system will drift on but those who are familiar with wartime experience say it is only a question of months when a more drastic and sweeping pattern will have to be imposed.

Army Fleet

By BEM PRICE

(For Hal Boyle)

Ships Supplied UN Forces

KOREA
LIFE BEING what it is in these parts—a grim mixture of cold and filth and frontier conditions—I think when my travel orders come I'll settle for any old mode of transportation.

I won't insist on a first-class stateroom in a luxury liner.

I have my eye on a ragtag, bobtailed fleet, put together with odds and ends of coastal craft, that is performing an heroic chore in supplying Allied troops.

It is the only fleet commanded by an army captain.

That doesn't stop me. As a World War II Marine, I'm used to hardships.

The captain, Borden T. Wright of Oakland, Calif., has promised me a berth on his good ship "Flying Cloud."

It is not exactly the most luxurious vessel in the captain's 31-ship fleet, but its wooden hull is believed to be reasonably seaworthy.

Besides, it has a capacity of at least six tons—not to mention a galley perfectly adequate for preparing "C" rations.

Vessels of Wright's fleet range from two to 40 tons. They are powered by gasoline or diesel engines, except for one driven by charcoal.

"IN CONVOY," Wright said proudly, "we expect they will make five knots, and you know, they've never been bothered by submarines or airplanes."

The ship I like is a honey about 38 feet long and maybe 14 in beam, and has one anchor.

Some of this wooden fleet manned by iron men is armed with 37-mm. anti-tank guns and assorted machineguns. What will happen if the guns ever are fired is problematical. But then, I can swim.

Wright, a Korean military advisory group (KMAG) supply officer, began liberating his fleet and manning it with volunteers way back in mid-September, at Pohang on Korea's southeast coast.

Ships of this independent fleet draw from two to six feet, fully loaded, and so far mines have been no problem.

"Everybody makes fun of my fleet," said Wright. "But I can stand it. The breakthrough up the east coast wouldn't have moved as fast as it did without my fleet. We use it to shuttle emergency supplies up and down the coast."

So far none of the ships has been lost to anything except lack of repairs.

Incidentally my stateroom when that dream trip comes up will be just aft of the bridge, where I won't get wet from spray breaking over the bow.

is the way it always will be in nature's domain, with whatever exceptions may crop out from time to time to prove the rule.

There will be fleecy lambs in the meadow next May. And wild flowers for them to admire. There will be bluebirds building nests in the cherry trees. And sparkling brooks, fragrant breezes warmed with mellow sunshine and mists rising from the forest floor.

Young men's fancies will turn where they always turn in springtime. Old men will sit in the heightening sun and dream of better days. The bobolink will ripple a cadenza in the fence corner and pheasants will promenade in the hedgerows.

The future has come closer with the advent of Waldo—informally known as Sam the Ram. Because the future is only the past again, entered through another door, all of which Sam knows by unerring instinct. There always have been lambs in springtime and grass for them to gambol on and peace on earth, good will and all the rest of it, including Waldo.

MOST people do not like to be physically conspicuous. They prefer not to be too fat, too thin, too short, or too tall. Sometimes, however, there is not much to be done about it.

Q—What do you think of retarding a child's growth? Our boy is 15 years old, six feet and three-quarters of an inch tall. Is there anything we can do to slow down his growth? O.H.

A—There are many things which enter into growth, including what is inherited from the family, and the diet. In North America, the average youngster has been a little taller than his parents for several generations. Also growth does not occur at a regular rate, but rather in spurts. There is no known way of retarding growth, Q—Recently, it was reported on the radio that a new and definite cure for angina pectoris has been discovered. Is this true, or is this just another rumor? G.S.

A—I do not know of any new or absolute cure for angina pectoris. There are, however, several good methods of managing angina pectoris, and the outlook for most of those who suffer from this condition is by no means dismal. If and when a better method of treating angina is discovered, the medical profession will learn of it promptly, and make it available to patients.

Q—I have been corresponding with a girl who was taken ill with a virus infection. Is there any danger that I will catch the infection from her letters or postcards? Mrs. V. B.

A—No, the virus would not live long on paper.

Q—Could a strain, caused by lifting, result in a man becoming sterile? Reader.

A—No.

Q—Can a person have a blood clot in the brain without knowing it himself? Reader.

A—Very small clots can develop in the blood vessels of the brain and produce no noticeable symptoms.

Q—My sister has a lot of trouble with her hands. When she puts them in water, the skin cracks and peels. She has tried everything to keep the hands soft, but nothing seems to help. Can anything be done about this? Mrs. E. R.

A—Many people have this kind of trouble. Assuming that your sister cannot keep her hands out of water, she could try wearing rubber gloves—or if she is sensitive to rubber (which is not uncommon)—some kind of plastic glove. It is also possible that her skin is sensitive to the particular soap used, so that she could try different brands of soap, or some of the cleaning detergents which are made of different ingredients than most soaps.

Hospital Auxiliary Concert
Will Feature Three Artists

ATTENTION IS FOCUSED on the violin, harp and piano as three talented artists give performances in the City Hospital auxiliary-sponsored concert at 8 p. m. Monday, Nov. 27, in the Methodist church. Mrs. Anthony Woina is producer of the musical, Mrs. Raymond Stiver general chairman and Mrs. Vesta King ticket chairman.

These artists, Miss Georgeanna Beaver, violinist; Miss Mary Green, harpist, and Miss Jane Corner, pianist, are all associated with the Cleveland Institute of Music.

The members of the hospital auxiliary are sponsoring the benefit affair designed to please the lovers of good music.

Miss Beaver is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Beaver of Leetonia. The star performer of the evening, she is well-known in local music circles. Miss Camille Firestone of Lisbon was her instructor and taught her for several years. She also studied with Michael Ficocelli and Alberto Reardon of Youngstown.

After graduating from Leetonia High school she attended the Cleveland Institute of Music and graduated with honors in 1949. Miss Beaver has been studying for five years with Joseph Knitzer and in 1948 she was chosen guest soloist with the institute orchestra.

In 1949 she soloed with the Youngstown Pops orchestra. At the present time she is working for a master of music degree in violin and has been a member of the institute faculty as a teacher of violin for two years.

Last season she was a member of the Western Reserve orchestra and the First Unitarian church choir directed by Walter Blodgett. She also has played with the St. James Festival orchestra of Cleveland and the Youngstown Symphony. Her father is chief of medical staff of the City Hospital.

A harpist, Miss Mary Green, who has played with several symphony orchestras and on the radio, will share the spotlight with Miss Beaver. She, too, is working for a master of music degree in harp at Cleveland institute while on a leave of absence from the faculty of Iowa Teachers college where she is a harp instructor.

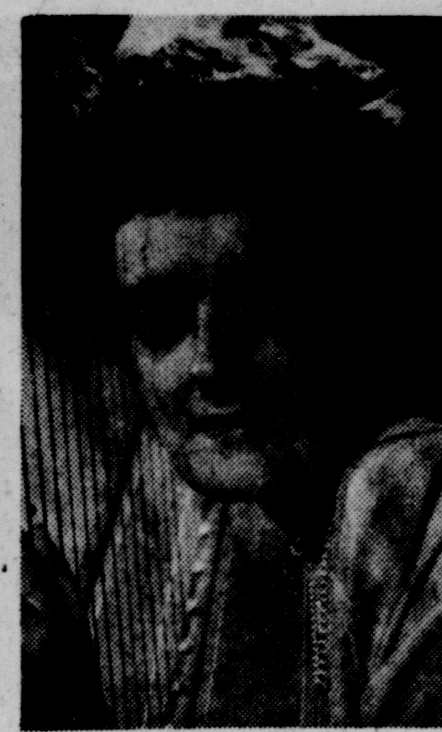

Jane Corner, pianist, has a bachelor of music degree in piano from Ohio university. At present she is studying piano with Beryl Rubinstein at the Cleveland institute.

Presbyterians Have Offering Service

IN SONG and words Mrs. Harry Snyder presented the thank offering service Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Presbyterian Women's Association and the evening committees in the church.

Flowers and lighted candles formed the effective altar background for the service and Mrs. Snyder used a heart-filling theme centered around love and thankfulness.

The association agreed to assist in purchasing the robes for the newly formed Boy's choir, a project of the former pastor, Rev. Harold L. Ogden.

Ted Stewart showed two beautiful color films, "India" was the theme of one, while the other depicted the Presbyterian-sponsored Sheldon Jackson school in Alaska, the only accredited high school there. Mrs. Thomas Mercer explained the offerings taken during the year dealing with plus giving.

DEMOCRACY STUDENTS

ONE OF THE MANY organizations helping to further democracy and international unity in the world is Cleveland's Council on World Affairs' International Students Group, which has chapters in major cities in the United States. Cleveland group has 200 students from 55 countries, who are in the U. S. to develop special technical skills. In addition, they learn democracy, not through preaching, but through doing. They elect members of the ISG Executive Board and take part in group business meetings. Many students are here on grants.

International Students Group planning committee obviously takes its duties seriously.

FIFTEEN PER CENT FOR DEFENSE—The Newschart above gives an example of how the Committee for Economic Development's proposed "defense profit" tax would work, as opposed to an "excess profits tax." The CED believes that its straight 53 per cent tax should run during 1951 only, to be replaced by a sound permanent plan. The flat rate would allow corporations making more than $100,000 to avoid the confiscatory "excess profits" tax rates on their profits over a "normal" figure. The flat rate, CED believes, would prevent the "seriously inflationary features of the excess-profits tax" and would produce $3 billion more in revenue than the present tax, leaving corporation profits at 1947-49 levels.

Ohio Turkey Crop Good

Big Tom Loses Popularity With Holiday Menu Planners

(By The Associated Press)
The big tom turkey, which once made the groaning board groan on Thanksgiving and Christmas, is a dead duck on today's turkey market.

That's the word from Daris D. Moyer, who lives near Marion, O. He is secretary of the Ohio Turkey Association, which embraces 350 Ohio turkey growers, and is a poultry husbandman at Ohio State University.

"Today's average consumer wants a Thanksgiving turkey that weighs about 12 to 15 pounds already dressed," he says.

This year's turkey crop in Ohio is about eight per cent higher than last year. It numbers about 1,300,000. They are about evenly divided between hens and toms.

THAT IS the sad part of the turkey raiser's lot. Turkeys are sold by the pound. Everybody wants smaller turkeys. This means that hen turkeys, being smaller, sell more quickly than tom turkeys. The grower has in most cases an equal amount of toms and hens so he is stuck with the toms.

This also means the grower takes a licking two ways. The tom turkeys, being in less demand, bring a lower price than hens. Right now tom turkeys bring only 28 to 30 cents a pound in large numbers on the wholesale market. Hens wholesale at 40 to 42 a pound.

Retail prices around Thanksgiving are hard to predict. But toms which dress at 20 to 24 pounds each should bring 60 to 65 dressed, while hens which dress at about 10 to 15 pounds should bring 70 to 80 cents a pound, Moyer said.

The housewife usually is more interested in how a turkey is dressed than in the quality, Moyer added. A cleanly dressed bird will always draw a woman purchaser's attention. This of course is bringing an increase in the number of white turkeys raised in Ohio. The reason, they dress more easily and cleanly because of an absence of short, dark pinfeathers.

He pointed out most all eastern growers are switching to white birds because of their absence of dark pinfeathers.

THE LARGE tom turkey is the buy for the economically minded housewife who wants to serve turkey both at Christmas and Thanksgiving, he added. Because of the lower tom price, (despite the fact they taste exactly the same when cooked), the smart housewife can buy a large tom already dressed, use only half for Thanksgiving, place the other half in a public or private deep-freeze, use the remainder for Christmas, and still save money.

There will be more ready-cut turkey on the market this year, Moyer predicted.

A strong demand for Ohio turkeys has resulted in a fourth of the current crop being sold by Nov. 1.

Ohio growers claim that their home-grown, fresh-killed and fresh-dressed birds are well worth the higher prices.

Turkey raising is a precarious job at best because turkeys are notoriously simple-minded. Most of Ohio's turkeys are raised on open range land. They live and are fed on the ground.

PCL Complains About Major League Draft

TV Cash Goes Into Pensions

Moguls Place Money In Players' Fund

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17—(AP)—Major league's baseball bosses talked in terms of a lot of dollars yesterday.

They decided to turn $975,000 of revenue from 1950 World Series radio and television rights into a fund for payments of annuity and life insurance for ball players.

And they paid out $239,500 for 25 players they drafted from minor leagues.

The radio-television money situation came up at a joint meeting of the American and National leagues. It took less than three minutes to decide what to do with that money.

PLAYER representatives Freddie Hutchinson of Detroit and Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals had already agreed the money should go into the baseball central fund.

From that is paid a big share of the pension-insurance fund premiums. Walter Mulberry, secretary of baseball and secretary of the fund, says it now takes between $500,000 and $600,000 a year from the central fund to keep it going.

More can be paid at any time it is possible and the baseball magnates decided to have a three-man committee decide whether an effort should be made to pay off the eventual premiums ahead of time.

Some of the players had asked previously that part of the radio-television money be diverted to players on clubs which finished among the first four in each league.

The draft found 25 players being picked off the minor league rosters at a total cost of $239,500.

An immediate blast of criticism came from top Pacific Coast League officials over the major league's draft of seven coast players.

PCL PRESIDENT Clarence Rowland, who is spearheading the fight to make Triple-A coast clubs draft-exempt, scanned the list of those drafted and burst out:

"That's just what we're trying to escape. Here we've just lost seven more players for $70,000... seven top players—yet the majors will turn around and give some high school kid $70,000 just to sign up. What's fair about that?"

Portland's general manager, Bill Mulligan, upon learning his outfielder, Luis Marquz, was lost to him a "measly $10,000," heatedly wanted to know, "Where can you get another ball player anywhere near as good for $10,000?"

The owner of the Oakland Oaks, Clarence Laws, also sizzled when he found George Metkovich, his top-notch outfielder, had been drafted by Pittsburgh for $10,000. Laws termed it "out and out robbery" and recalled that he shelled out $25,000 for Metkovich just last winter.

State Bars Way To Bowl For Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 17—(AP)—Ohio State, the nation's top ranking college eleven, may block Illinois' bid for a New Year's date in the Rose Bowl when the teams battle tomorrow before a sellout crowd of 71,119 in Memorial stadium.

Ohio State, ineligible for return to the Rose Bowl this year, has posted a perfect Western Conference record of 5-0 and is scrambling for both the Big Ten and national championship.

While both teams have identical all-game records of 6-1 this season, Ohio State ranks a slight favorite over Illinois, the Big Ten's strongest defensive unit.

Illinois, No. 8 in the poll and with a 3-1 league mark, must beat Ohio State to keep in the running for a bid to the game at Pasadena, Wisconsin, in third place with a 4-2 conference mark, and Michigan, with two wins, a loss and a tie, still are eligible to be picked. The conference season ends Nov. 25.

The Ohio Buckeyes are the outstanding offensive unit in the Western Conference. Thus far in five conference games Ohio State has averaged a record 41.6 points a game, while Illinois has permitted its rivals only an average of 3.6 points a game in four contests.

Ohio State's total of 208 points exceeded the modern record of 207 gathered by Michigan in six contests in 1943.

Dempsey Raps Modern Fighting

His Million Dollar Gates Were Cause

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, who twice made the trip from rags to riches, blamed his five famed million dollar gates today for the evil days which have fallen on boxing.

The former heavyweight champion earned more than $5,000,000 as the greatest puncher the ring ever has known. He blew most of it, but now has made a financial comeback through oil and real estate to where once again he is a millionaire.

But it is those long-gone millions which the Manassa Mauler condemns as the reason for boxing's current ailments, with its racket domination and "futile club fighters and fancy dans."

"MY BIG gates did more to commercialize boxing than anything else in pugilistic history," Dempsey asserts in "Championship Fighting," his new book on the "lost" art of self defense, edited by Jack Cuddy, noted boxing authority. "They transformed boxing into a big-time business. As a commercial enterprise, the fight game attracted people who knew little or nothing about self defense."

"They came as promoters, managers, trainers and even instructors," he adds. "They pointed the gold rush in droves—professional men, clothing manufacturers, butchers, bookies, racket guys and pool hall hangers-on."

"The tide of amateur experts swept into the amateurs, where lack of knowledge among instructors today is as pathetic as among professional handlers," he charges. "To a menacing extent the major purpose of fistic instruction has been bypassed by amateur tutors who try to benefit themselves financially by producing punchless performers who can win on points."

DEMPSEY, who shatters all boxing precepts with the theory that fighters are made, not born, also insists that:

In the Willard fight, in which he knocked out the giant Jess to win the heavyweight crown, Dempsey reveals that while his weight was announced at 187 he actually weighed 180—spotting Willard 65 pounds.

"I won't say I was scared as I gazed at Willard," he confesses, "but I'll admit I began to wonder if I packed enough power to down that man mountain."

That he did is boxing history.

Quakers Enter Fifth Day Of Intensive Cage Practice

Coach Johnny Cabas, a fundamentalist to the core, today pushed his cage squad into its fifth day of drills. For four days the new Quaker mentor has tirelessly run 40-odd squad candidates through a series of passing, dribbling, and shooting drills.

The intensity of the workouts make even a bystander slightly exhausted.

Cabas Gives Talk At Boosters Club

A very small group of Salem Boosters Club members attended last night's meeting, at which John Cabas, Salem High basketball mentor, was speaker.

He outlined his type of basketball, methods of coaching, theories on the game and the general outlook for the season. He told the group that the Dover preview will provide an excellent chance for the Quakers to meet three teams of varying methods and attacks. They'll meet a fast-breaking Massillon team, Dover, with a zone defense and Akron South, a pass and cut club.

Cabas invited the Boosters to attend his team's practice on the night of Nov. 30 at the high school, in lieu of holding a regular meeting. Wives of the Boosters and other adult members of the community are also invited.

"We'll show you just what goes on in practice and why we do certain things," he said.

Club President Tim Hoppes said membership in the club has now reached 715, but efforts are going ahead to swell that number.

Election of club officers will be held December 7, he said.

Hoppes also urged members to buy their football banquet tickets as soon as possible, since the committee in charge must know the number attending by next Friday.

Leetonia Cage Squad Busy

40 Players Report; Open Season Dec. 1

Basketball practice began Wednesday at Leetonia High school, and the coaching staff is busy choosing varsity and reserve squads from the 40 boys have turned up for the 1950-51 season.

Only one letterman from last year's season, Sam Tingle, a senior, is included in the group. Reservists who saw some action with the 1949-50 varsity squad are Charles Hedl, William Jeffries, Joe Guido and Glen Smith.

The coaching staff is comprised of Robert Gibson, varsity; Joe Bernard, freshman; and Carl Wilson, junior high. The Junior High squad will begin practice within the next week.

Leetonia will open the season Friday, Dec. 1, playing Poland on the home floor. The remaining schedule follows:

Dec. 7, Salineville (T); Dec. 12, Beloit (H); Dec. 15, Lisbon (T); Dec. 19, New Waterford (T); Dec. 22, Boardman (T); Jan. 3, Columbiana (H); Jan. 9, Sebring (H); Jan. 12, Berlin Center (T); Jan. 19, Fairfield (H); Jan. 20, Minerva (T); Jan. 26, Salineville (H); Jan. 30, East Palestine (H); Feb. 6, Fairfield (T); Feb. 9, Beloit (T); Feb. 13, Lisbon (H); Feb. 16, Carrollton (T); and Feb. 23, Louisville (T).

Columbiana Meets Fairfield Nov. 28

Columbiana High school Clippers, with no regulars back from last year, inaugurates its new basketball season Tuesday, Nov. 28, at Fairfield.

The squad is promised plenty of strength, however, in the six returning lettermen—John Laughlin, Bob Barnes, Dave Warrick, Ron Perkins, Willis Miller and Chuck Ramsey. And Coach Jim Hall lists these boys as promising prospects: Gary Sayers, Bruce Miller, Dick Thomas, Milt Power and Don McBride.

The Clippers were co-tri-county champions last year with an impressive 22 and 3 record. They were defeated in the district finals at Kent.

Saxons Open Season

The Salem Saxon Club will open its 1950-51 basketball season at 8 Saturday in the Memorial building against the Canton Saxons. A girls game is slated for 7 p. m.

Coach Pete Sanders' squad includes John Girscht, Bill Zeck, Bill Lutsch, Mike Linder, Al Falk, Fritz Roth and Al Linger.

YOCO UPSETS MOUNT

Youngstown College closed out its football season last night by beating Mount Union, 21-0.

In the game, halfback Ralph Gaudin scored twice to pace Youngstown to its third win against five defeats. Mount Union has won seven of nine games.

The game was a stunning upset, with Mount heavily favored to win. The Purple Raiders had lost only one game prior to last night.

Navy Cuts Ohio From Grid Card

Decides To Lighten Its Heavy Schedule

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 17—(AP)—It's official now. Navy is out looking for an easier football schedule.

This became public property last night when Ohio State announced it was cancelling its home-and-home series with the Naval Academy—at Navy's request—for 1952 and 1953.

And don't be too surprised if a couple of other nationally ranking teams are scratched off future Navy schedules.

It is reported reliably that Navy is trying to get off the hook with Rice, powerhouse of the southwest, booked for the next two years. It seems a verbal agreement is the only strand holding the link together, and that was made by Captain Tom Hamilton, who is now athletic director at Pitt.

A break in the 24-year-old series with Notre Dame isn't out of the question. Although earlier this week both schools denied a published report future games would be called off, if the scheduling between the two remain on a year-to-year basis.

Notre Dame reportedly this year wanted to book Navy through 1954. But Navy said no. It preferred no binding agreement beyond 12 months.

You can't blame the midshipmen too much. After all, since 1945 they have won six, tied three and have come out on the losing end 34 times.

The lads down Severn way found themselves on the schedules of the top contenders for national honors during the war. Through those years, with a wealth of material at their beck and call, they stood up quite well against anything that came their way.

The Ohio State announcement said the cancellation "came about due to a change in the athletic policy at the Naval Academy and its attempt to lighten and moderate its schedules."

Although Captain Howard Caldwell, athletic director, hasn't come out with any publicized plan, it seems to most observers that he is attempting to curtail the ambitious scheduling plans laid out by Hamilton before he resigned as athletic director to take the Pitt job.

Quaker Annual Wins "Excellent" Rating

The 1950 High School Quaker annual has received an "Excellent" rating in the yearbook critical service judging conducted by the National Scholastic Press Association.

The book received 3,135 points to miss the coveted All-American rating by only 75 points. Judging was based on content, theme development, layout, and typography.

Barbara Hughes edited the 1950 Quaker with William Stamp as business manager, Miss Betty Ulicny and R. W. Hilgendorf were editorial and business staff advisors.

Jim Pearson's poster won first prize in the Book week poster contest sponsored by the high school library. He will receive a subscription to a magazine of his choice.

His poster has been displayed in the school library and also will be shown at the public library. This week is National Book week.

John Votaw was the top salesman in the high school choruses magazine sales contest. He won a radio for selling more than $116 worth of subscriptions while the total reached $1,000, according to Thomas Crothers, director.

Proceeds are used to secure chorus robes. Several new robes were purchased this year and have been assigned to advanced chorus members.

Gerald Patterson has been elected president of the Spanish club. Other officers are: Vice president, Dolores Buta; secretary, Joan Whitten; treasurer, Jean Cameron. Miss Mildred Hollet is the club adviser.

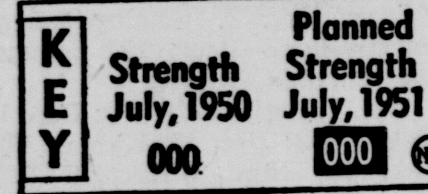

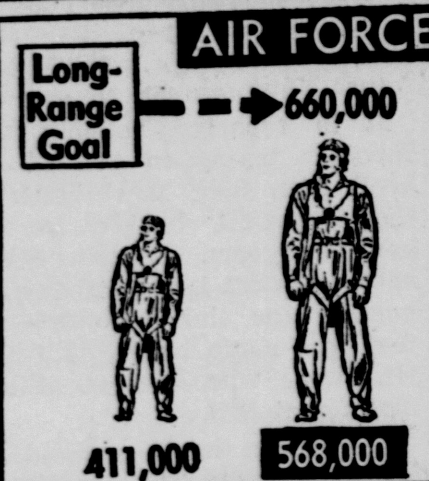

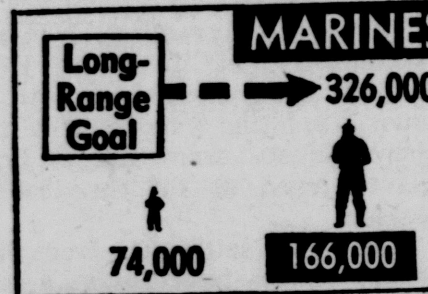

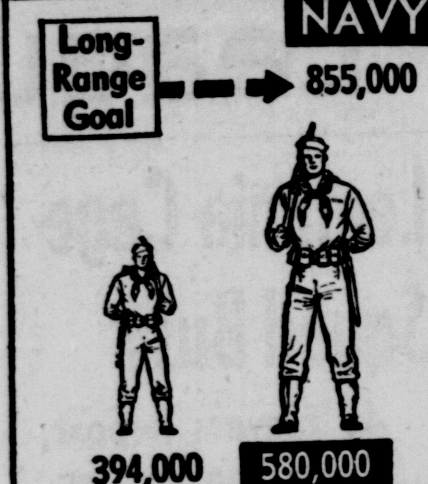

Mary Hollinger has been appointed senior assistant editor of the Quaker Weekly. She replaces Betty Shepard and is one of the paper's columnists.

Pittsburgh Papers To Print Saturday

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17—(AP)—An agreement to end Pittsburgh's six-week long shutdown of its three daily newspapers was reached at 6:35 a. m. today. The agreement came after all night negotiating sessions with non-striking unions which had demanded back pay as the result of a mailers' strike which started Oct. 16 and ended last Tuesday.

No details were disclosed but the spokesman for the three papers — Post-Gazette, Sun-Telegraph and Press — said publication will be resumed tomorrow.

2 DIE IN FIRE
CLEVELAND, Nov. 17—(AP)—Fletcher Jackson, 52, and his stepson, Henry T. Rogers, 24, were killed here last night when flames from a kerosene stove set fire to the second floor of a frame house where they were living.

ARMED FORCES GROWING UP—Barring an unusual switch in plans, the U. S. armed forces will have a total strength of 2,644,000 by July, 1951. The long-range manpower goal may be even larger than the 3,000,000 figure mentioned by President Truman in a recent radio talk. The Newschart above compares strength of armed forces after the outbreak of the Korean war.

DEFENSE CHIEFS MEET
CHICAGO, Nov. 17—(AP)—Civil defense chiefs of 11 mid-western states met today to plan for interstate cooperation in event of aggression against the United States. The one-day special meeting was called by Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, Illinois civil defense director. He said Washington officials have asked for speedy action toward clarifying procedures that will be followed from coast-to-coast if non-military centers should be attacked. States invited to take part are Indiana, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kentucky, Kansas, Michigan and Missouri.

Jr. High Pupils View 2 Films At Assembly

The seventh and eighth grades at Junior High school saw two films in Thursday assemblies. "Magic in the Air" is the title of the movie which tells the story of television. It shows a typical stage setting as the actors perform before a television camera.

"How Not to Conduct a Meeting" is the title of the second film which features Lemuel Q. Stoopnagel who burlesques the common errors in planned meetings. It is a comedy on certain types of luncheon gatherings and on mistakes made in speeches. Eddie Linger, 8C class secretary, was the announcer.

Q—What percentage of U.S. crops are raised on irrigated lands?
A—They represent only nine or 10 per cent of the total value of all farm products, but include some important ones. Irrigation farming produces three-fourths of our alfalfa hay and one-fourth of all our potatoes.

Lee Resigns Commerce Post

Loyalty Suspect Got Fired, Is Report

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — (AP) — Michael E. Lee is out from under Commerce Department loyalty suspicion and also out of his $10,750-a-year job. He resigned and was fired.

The 42-year-old economist's case, a headline maker for the last two years, reached its climax—and apparent end—in these rapid-fire developments yesterday:

1. Announcement by Lee that Secretary of Commerce Sawyer had cleared him of disloyalty charges—thereby reversing a department loyalty board finding two months ago—and that he had resigned, since "all doubts as to my loyalty have been removed."

2. Later announcement by the department that Sawyer cleared Lee but also had ordered that he be fired, under authority recently granted by Congress for such dismissals "on grounds of security and the best interests of the United States."

Lee had been suspended since the loyalty board's finding against him Sept. 8. Sawyer's clearance order automatically rescinded the suspension and assured him of back pay—around $2,000. Lee's resignation stopped any further salary payments.

Leetonia Man Fined On Health Charge

Otis McMillan of R. D. 1, Leetonia, was fined $25 and costs Thursday in Justice of the Peace Hazen Hunter's Washingtonville court when he was found guilty of violating a county health regulation.

McMillan was charged with causing to be dumped, or dumping, kitchen waste into a water course, contrary to health laws. He pleaded not guilty and was represented by Attorney Howard Cole of Lisbon.

The county health department pressed the charge with the advice of William Brokaw, assistant county prosecutor. Scene of the violation was the McMillan dwelling on Route 45, five miles south of Salem.

The defendant charged the regulation was unconstitutional. He may appeal the court's finding, Mr. Hunter said Thursday.

This is the first recent case of its kind in this part of the county, according to county health officials.
